

STEVEN LEWIS
BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Steven is the head of business development for JBS. Having joined the firm 2006, Steven brings over seven years of real estate and development experience.

Previously, Steven was a vice president with the national technology search firm, OTEC, the parent company of HotJobs.com. For more than five years, Steven recruited professional services and engineering talent on behalf of clients such as Montgomery Securities, Nomura Securities, Robertson Stephens, Fort Point Partners, webMethods and Akamai. In addition to founding the San Francisco and Boston offices for OTEC, Steven also helped launch a human capital consulting and outsourcing division in New York.

Steven began his career working for advertising agencies Anderson&Lembke and Earle Palmer Brown, where he managed multi-million dollar advertising campaigns for clients such as CoreStates Bank, AST Computer, Puma, and Visa.

Steven graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Bucknell University, and completed graduate coursework at New York University.